LAB LOGIC

OBVIOUS FIXES. SURPRISING ANSWERS.

Brand kit for a cartoon science channel on YouTube Shorts, Instagram Reels and TikTok. Every video asks "why don't we just...?" and the scientist finds out why not.

MASCOT

The scientist

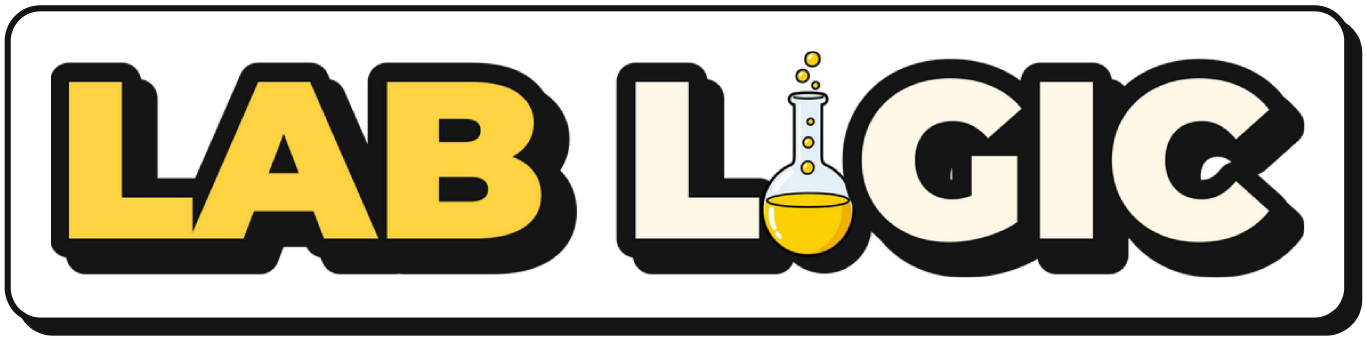

He is the face of the channel and stars in every Short: messy brown hair, big round black glasses, open white lab coat with a pen, teal t-shirt. When a story needs a person, it is him.

- Draw every new pose from his hero picture, never from a text prompt alone.
- He reacts to the science: proud before the idea, nervous when it fails, gas mask or facepalm at the end.
- Objects and planets get simple code-drawn faces; he stays the only human.
- The pointing-up bust is the profile picture on all three platforms.

LOGO

Wordmark

- Montserrat Black, all caps. LAB in Lab Yellow, LOGIC in Paper, the O replaced by the bubbling flask.
- Thick ink outline plus a hard ink shadow down and to the right. No soft shadows, no gradients.
- Place it on Sky Blue or a busy picture. On yellow, use the stacked version on a sky-blue badge.
- Horizontal for banners and cover badges; stacked for square spaces.

IN THE VIDEOS

Caption style

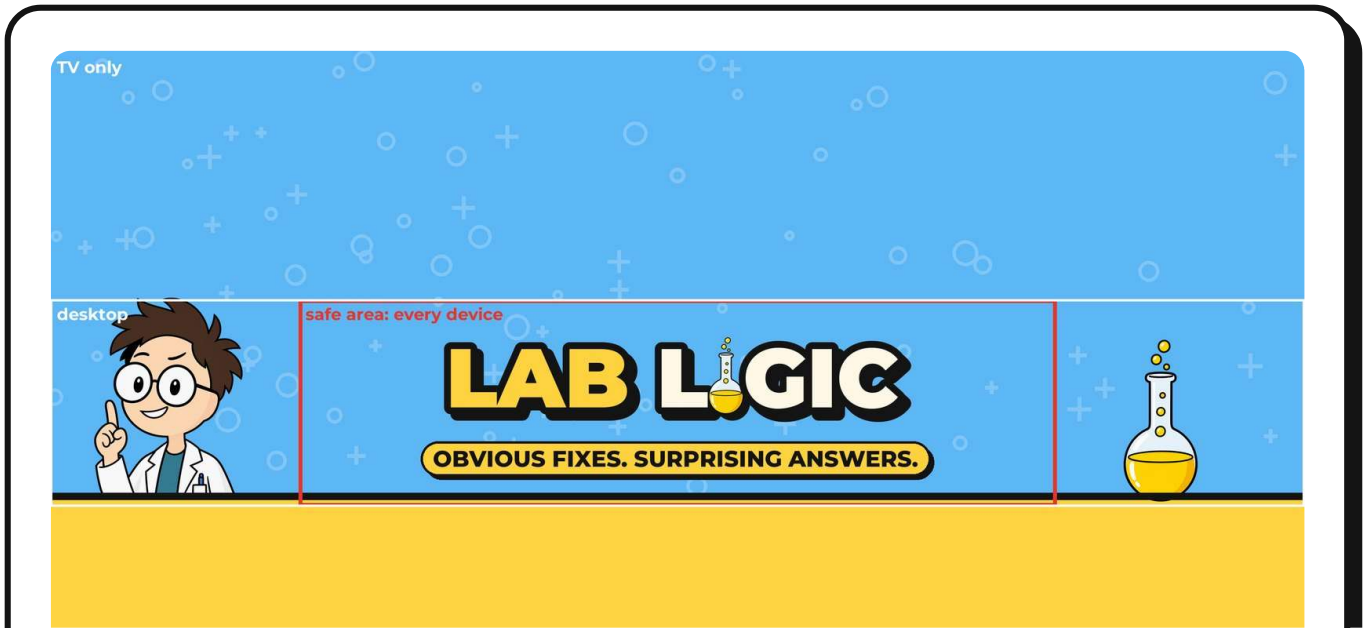

- 2–3 words at a time, all caps, Montserrat Black at 104 px on the 1080×1920 frame.
- White with a thick ink outline and a hard shadow. The word being spoken turns yellow and grows; keywords stay Spark Green once said.
- Centred at 1480 px from the top: below the action, above the app buttons and the description text.
- No punctuation except question marks. Numbers stay as digits ("20 MINUTES").

YOUTUBE

Channel banner

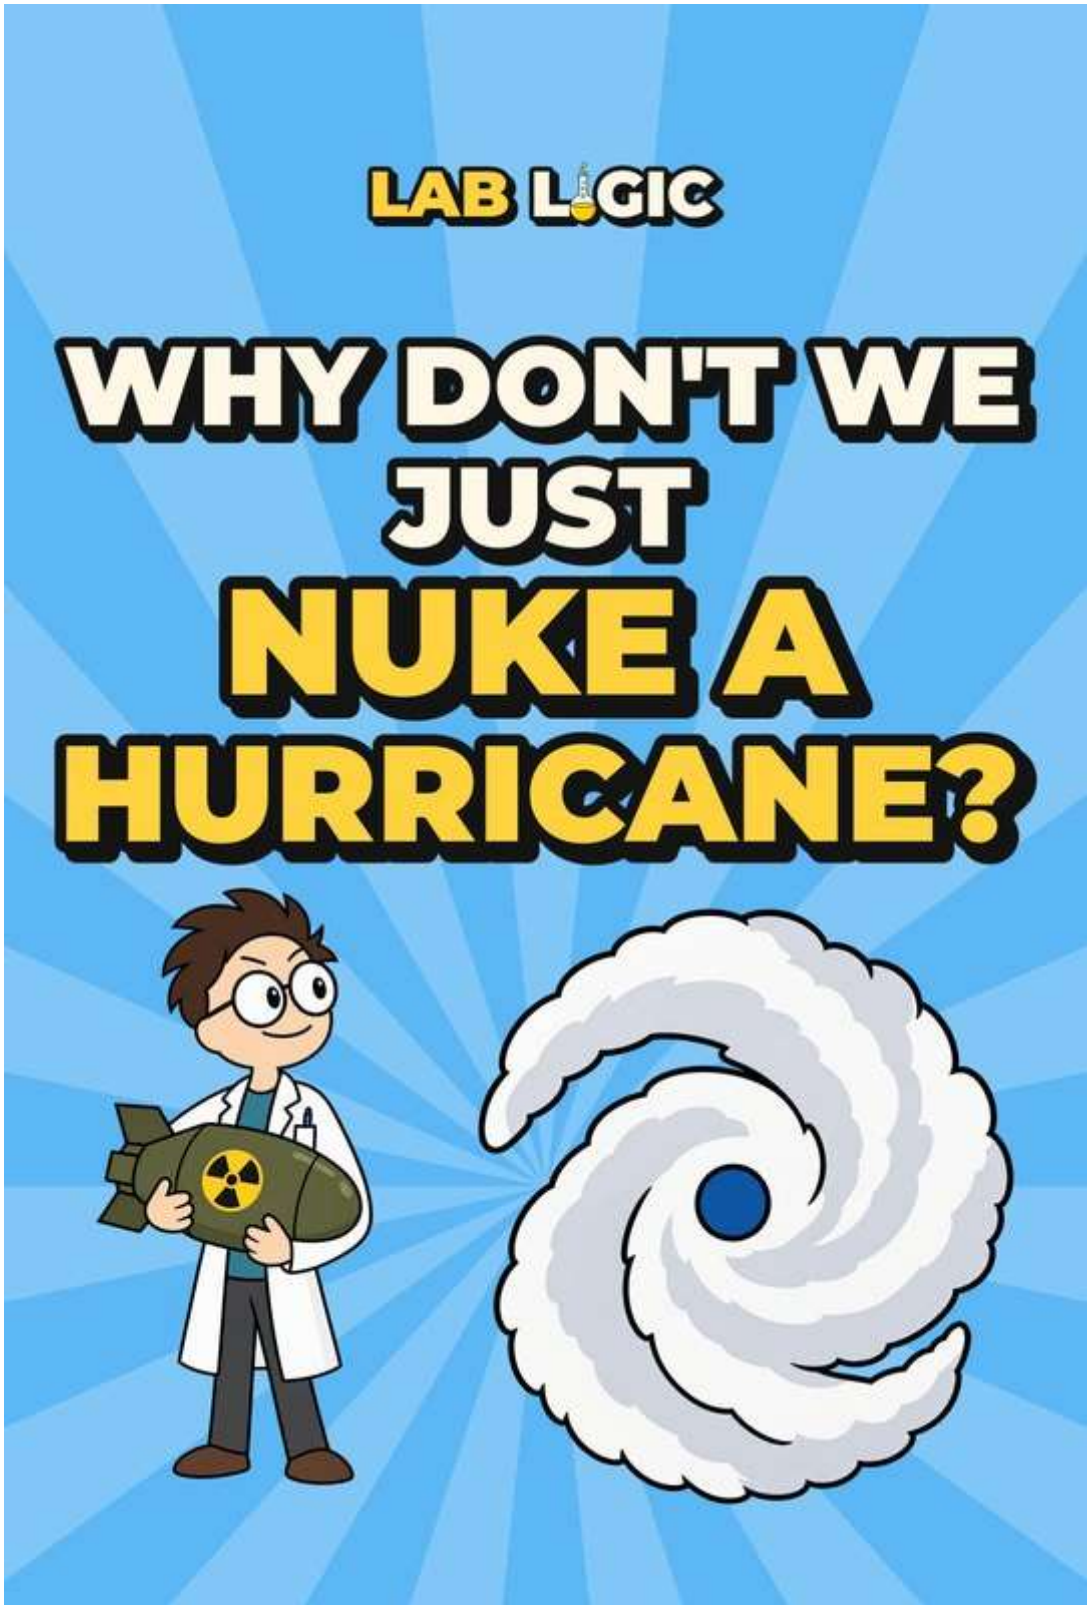

Name and tagline sit inside the 1546×423 area that every device shows. The scientist and the flask sit in the desktop strip; TVs show the full sky and bench.
